

I strongly urge you to retain the current rules for broadcast ownership. I oppose rules that lead to more media consolidation.

One of the things that has made our American democracy so successful is that we have dispersed the ownership of property, capital, and other means of power into the hands of many, rather than the hands of just a few.

Widespread ownership of broadcast media will serve the interests of our beloved nation more faithfully than concentrated ownership.

Thank you.